

Think Inside the Box

In the deep shadows you discover a Body
Double check the rooms, lock once clean
We are left with one room that had no key
Too late for a doctor to help at the scene

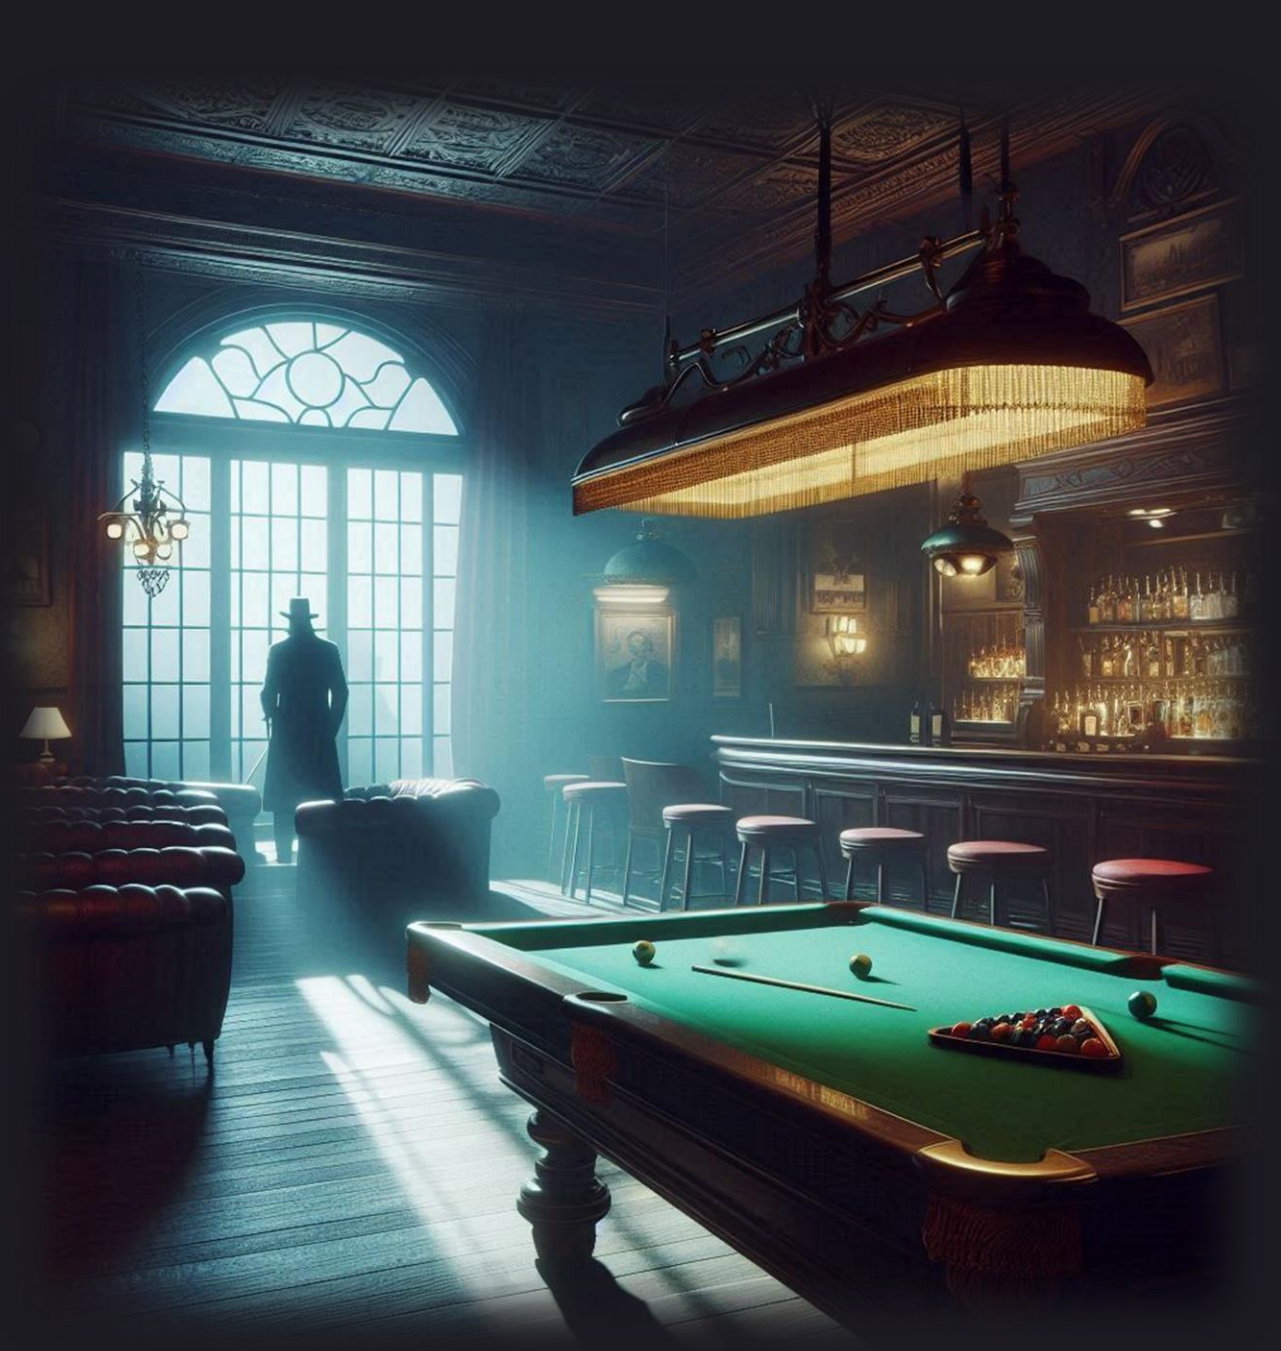

Begin with a meeting, first in the match
Solid connection leads to breakthrough
Take them in order, first one dispatch
Point to the bottom to draw for the two
Don't miss a cue, another we scratch
Take it in hand to eliminate each hue
It would be foul play to jump to the last
Come down to it, that's what we'll do
But this isn't where the scheme was hatched
We've other rooms yet to search through

The next suspect is in dance with transgression
Not branded with M, but marked with a letter
A crime once met with highest aggression
John reminds us we have to be better

A stone's throw to left, apart from the flock
Passing in secret to sidestep bombshell
All three, no place to throw accusation or rock
Naturally envious, but pious as well
This one is not going to darken his frock
Keeping away from depths where one fell

Alone in a corner one thoughtfully sits
Having come from deserted room crossable
The authority on life being down in the pits
And pondering whether duality is plausible
Stopped in to borrow wisdom and wit
To study eliminating the impossible
Each of those rooms we can safely acquit
And this person is not responsible

Another proceeds two doors counterwise
Having lingered at dinner, plate properly clean
Cantonese had been a welcome surprise
Neither room supplying the murderer or scene

You have what you need to bring down dark plan
Don't let the case die on the vines
In the end you must go to where things began
You know who it is, read between the lines

With alibis gathered, plot narrows a shade
Movements and actions you are able to trace
Killer's identity and location betrayed
But the murder weapon makes the case

Six macabre options, tokens of homicide
But don't paint too broad with your brush
One could harm outright, the rest threat implied
Particularly deadly, if you're not in a rush
Something unusual eating away
You would have envisaged more gore
A violent end isn't what's on display
Death from blood, but none on the floor

Arrive once more to a view of the kill
The foundation of this mystery exposed
A double cross gone completely downhill
And our murderer separated, disclosed

Think Inside the Box

In the deep shadows you discover a Body
Double check the rooms, lock once clean
We are left with one room that had no key
Too late for a doctor to help at the scene

Begin with a meeting, first in the match
Solid connection leads to breakthrough
Take them in order, first one dispatch
Point to the bottom to draw for the two
Don't miss a cue, another we scratch
Take it in hand to eliminate each hue
It would be foul play to jump to the last
Come down to it, that's what we'll do
But this isn't where the scheme was hatched
We've other rooms yet to search through

The next suspect is in dance with transgression
Not branded with M, but marked with a letter
A crime once met with highest aggression
John reminds us we have to be better

A stone's throw to left, apart from the flock
Passing in secret to sidestep bombshell
All three, no place to throw accusation or rock
Naturally envious, but pious as well
This one is not going to darken his frock
Keeping away from depths where one fell

Alone in a corner one thoughtfully sits
Having come from deserted room crossable
The authority on life being down in the pits
And pondering whether duality is plausible
Stopped in to borrow wisdom and wit
To study eliminating the impossible
Each of those rooms we can safely acquit
And this person is not responsible

Another proceeds two doors counterwise
Having lingered at dinner, plate properly clean
Cantonese had been a welcome surprise
Neither room supplying the murderer or scene

You have what you need to bring down dark plan
Don't let the case die on the vines
In the end you must go to where things began
You know who it is, read between the lines

With alibis gathered, plot narrows a shade
Movements and actions you are able to trace
Killer's identity and location betrayed
But the murder weapon makes the case

Six macabre options, tokens of homicide
But don't paint too broad with your brush
One could harm outright, the rest threat implied
Particularly deadly, if you're not in a rush
Something unusual eating away
You would have envisaged more gore
A violent end isn't what's on display
Death from blood, but none on the floor

Arrive once more to a view of the kill
The foundation of this mystery exposed
A double cross gone completely downhill
And our murderer separated, disclosed

